Product Vision

A platform where users can anonymously share their thoughts, frustrations, relationship issues, academic stress, family problems, career anxiety, or personal struggles with real human listeners.

Users remain anonymous throughout the interaction.

Listeners earn money for their time and support.

The platform earns through commissions on sessions.

Problem Statement

People often need someone to talk to but face several issues:

- Friends judge them
- Family members don't understand
- Therapists are expensive
- They don't want their identity revealed
- They only need someone to listen

There is currently no simple platform that provides instant anonymous emotional conversations with real people.
